Chapter 1 by -

The story of how we met:

My family had just moved to our new town in the summer, and then we had to go to school. My brother tried out for the High School soccer team and made JV, so my mom and I went to his first game. There, we met another mom who had dragged her son along to watch the game. It was obvious that he didn't want to be there, and frankly, neither did I. My mom, being how she is, politely small talked from across the bleachers to this boy's mom. By the end of the game, they were sitting together and discussing politics. In other words, my mom became great friends with Francine (I learned her name!). My mom thought it was weird that I didn't have any friends yet, so she made me talk to Andy, who was the boy my age watching his brother play soccer. His brother's name was Fred. Ironically, Fred became great friends with my brother, so our whole families were "connecting". Including Andy and I.

"Hey. Looks like you're having fun." I said as I approached him on the bleachers.

"Yeah... Same for you" He replied. At first it was kind of awkward, but we eventually got to know each other and by the end of the game, our whole families were planning to get together for a neighborhood barbecue. As it turned out, we became great friends and never got from them!
